ECONOMY IN COAL
Fuchien Lignite Coal stands for economy in coal value. All kinds of coal have a large percentage of ash which is practically waste. The dust in FUCHIEN Lignite is blown into lamps as soon as they are cast into boilers. Fuchien Lignite coal burns economically and is therefore a decided economy.

RUHR OCCUPATION RESULT.

UNREST IN NEAR EAST.

TURCO-GREEK CONFLICT POSSIBLE.

LONDON, January 28.
The unsettling effect of the French occupation of the Ruhr upon the situation in the Near East is evidenced by the Observer's correspondent at Vienna. He says that Balkan politicians there opine that the French have set a bad example to the Little Entente whose Ministers are going to meet at Belgrade or Bucharest to decide on joint measures against Bulgaria and Hungary who have paid no reparations.

Budapest papers report that Rumania is concentrating new troops on the Magyar frontier. The same correspondent states that according to news from A gora if an ultimatum is handed to the Turks at Lausanne on Wednesday they will reject it then as Greece has already an army in Thrace. A conflict on European soil may be inevitable in this regard.

Reuter's correspondent at Athens reports that the Allies have handed the Greek Government a note warning Greece of the danger of the concentration of Greek troops in Thrace and proposing the formation of a neutral zone on each side of the Maritza.

BAVARIAN FASCISTI BUSY.

BERLIN, January 28.
After prohibiting Fascist demonstrations organised by Hitler the Bavarian Government finally allowed them to be held. It is reported from Munich that meetings held yesterday evening were poorly attended. The ceremony of dedicating the Fascist colours is being held in Munich to day and disturbances are feared.

A state of emergency has been proclaimed at Gera where a few hundred members of the reactionary Rosbach brigade, partly armed, were arrested on route to Munich.

CANTON COUP.

STARTLING EVENTS.

NGAI BONG PING TRAPPED.

KWANGSI FACTION PREDOMINANT.

After our Canton correspondent had closed his report on Friday, startling events took place in Canton having an important bearing on the political situation. During the week-end, conflicting reports reached the Colony to the effect that Ngai Bong-ping had been trapped by the Kwangsi militarists and even that he had been shot and had died from his injuries. However, a member of the Kwangsi Provincial Assembly by name of Lam, who came down last night states that up to the time of his departure, Ngai was still under arrest and had not been liberated.

SITUATION MORE COMPLEX.

The effect of these kaleidoscopic changes is to render the situation more complex but several things seem evident. Firstly, in spite of the Kwangsi-Yunnan militarists' persistent declarations that they are constitutional troops and have been specially enjoined by "President" Sun to occupy Canton, they do not seem to be pro-Sun and by their recent action contradict his statement that they are acting under his express orders. By pursuing a policy of either disarming or absorbing smaller units, the Kwangsi commanders reduced the factions in Canton to three, viz. their own troops, the Yunnans and the Cantonese in the order of numerical strength. That, as is evident from our correspondent's report, they did not hesitate at a rupture to remove the Cantonese troops or at least reduce them to a negligible factor, hints that they will not be satisfied until all competition is overcome. By entrapping Ngai, who, despite his previous sitting on the fence, has been expressly appointed by Sun to the command of all the Cantonese troops, they have revealed themselves in their true colours and at the same time shown very little defence for Sun.

SUN'S FACTION POWERLESS.

Whether the Kwangsi coup has affected Dr. Sun's decision or not, it is worthy of mention that Sun should, according to telegraphic advice, have sailed from Shanghai on Saturday, but has not done so. It seems safe to assume from the present outlook that he will keep away from Canton indefinitely. His following is now rendered almost powerless and it is reported that his most prominent leaders have already left Canton with more haste than dignity. The Kwangsi element has become predominant. Taking their previous policy as a criterion, they are merely pro-themselves. In other words, they will attempt to occupy Canton as long as possible, regardless of Peking just for what they can get. The time will come when history will repeat itself and they will be ousted through popular opinion turning against them as the result of unbearable levies to maintain the armies with which they will govern Kwangtung.

THE FATEFUL MEETING.

HOW NGAI WAS TRAPPED.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

CANTON, Jan. 28.
On Friday evening a meeting was held at the headquarters of the River Defences the leaders of all factions being present either in person or by proxy ostensibly to discuss a solution of the situation. Among those personally present were Li Yik-piu, commander of one of the Kwangsi corps, Lau Tsin-wan, commander of the Kwangsi troops which previously occupied Whampoa as General Chen's private army, and O'Neil with the allies and has since shown himself to be pro-Sun. Yeung Wai-ming, commander-in-chief of the Yunnan division, Lau Tsi-bing and Wong Hung-yan, two Kwangsi brigade commanders, Wu Han-min, the Civil Governor, Ngai Bong-ping, Chow Loo, the ex M.P., Admiral Yen Shu-tak and Chan Chak. Wei Ngai, Chow and Chan were the members of the Kuomintang at the meeting.

NGAI ACCUSED AND ARRESTED.

Shortly after the meeting opened, Li Yik-piu accused Ngai of playing a double game, and being a traitor to Sun's cause by detaching his remaining force with his Third Kwangsi Army when Sun was expelled from the coup of June last and his failure to support Sun by a land attack when Sun bombarded Canton. Ngai was immediately placed under arrest and handcuffed and broke loose. To the discredit of the officials, everybody made for the staircase. Mr. Han-min is said to have rolled down the stairs to be taken to hand by two motor-cars. A scholar had his statue of bodyguards, every body started firing and the allies being instantly shot in the excitement. The Kwangsi

STRIKE GRADUALLY SPREADING.

PARIS, January 28.
Messages from Dusseldorf state that sentences ranging from a week's to a fortnight's imprisonment and heavy fines have been imposed on the recently arrested demonstrators.

The strike is stated to be almost complete in the northern industrial area but French railwaymen are maintaining the services. The strike is only partial in the southern area. Sabotage on the railways, telephones and telegraphs is reported but French breakdown gangs are repairing the damage and restoring the services.

WISH FATHER TO THOUGHT?

LONDON, January 28.
The German wireless allegation that the Attorney General in the House of Commons declared the French occupation of the Ruhr to be illegal is untrue. The Attorney General did not make any such declaration and the House of Commons is not sitting.

HOMELESS ARMENIANS.

RUSSIAN OFFER ACCEPTED.

LAUSANNE, January 28.
The only bright side of the Lausanne picture at present is the Russian offer to find a home in Russia for a considerable number of Armenians. It is proposed to settle Armenians in North Georgia. The Russians will only provide land and the Armenians must depend on international aid to build their own buildings. The Armenians are pleased with the offer and will now negotiate with the Russians in regard to settlement of the details.

JAPANESE CONSUL INTERVENES.

Ngai was taken back to the Agricultural Hall the headquarters of Shum Hung-ying, Commander-in-Chief of the Kwangsi forces. One report states that he was wounded in several places and died at Shum's headquarters but this has been contradicted. It appears that the Japanese Consul intervened and Ngai was not shot. Ngai studied at a Japanese military college for some time and he is stated to be a Japanese subject. However, the report goes that Shum demanded the surrender of the arms of Ngai's troops as a stipulation to his release. The efforts of the Consul seemed to have been of some avail as Ngai was reported alive on Saturday. Nearly two thousand of his troops gave up their arms, this being done, it is said, at the request of Ngai who wrote to the second in command whilst still a prisoner. Up to the time of writing, it is claimed that he has been liberated but this has not been confirmed, but the reports that he is dead seem to be premature.

By their coup, the Kwangsi troops have established themselves in full control. To day, the remnants of the Cantonese troops have left for Yeung Kwan near Kongmoon, accompanied by two gunboats, the "Kong Tai" and "Kong Kwoo." Lau Tsin-wan also left with his two thousand odd troops for the East River district, the embarkation at Taishan being effected early in the morning.

CANTON IN STATE OF SIEGE.

Canton is in a state of siege. Since the meeting broke up, work at all the yamens has ceased. On both sides of the river machine guns and field-guns are posted trained at one another. The warships in the Pak Nge Tam are all cleared for action. Special guards patrol the Western Bund and the entrances to Shamshui. This is believed to be for the purpose of preventing Sun's adherents from escaping. A number of shops and restaurants are flying foreign flags, the Union Jack being predominant.

In spite of the Kwangsi vigilance, nearly all of Sun's supporters have escaped. Wu Han-min, Sun Fo and Yeung Si-ngam all having gone to Hongkong.

PIONEER MOTOR-SHIP.

A particularly interesting motor vessel was lying in Liverpool dock in mail week. She was the "Siam"—a plaster motorship with nine years'
continuous hard service to her credit.
The "Siam," owned by the East Asiatic Company of Copenhagen, was built in 1913 by Messrs. Burmeister and Wain of that city, and has a length of 425 feet, a beam of 55 feet, and carries 9,200 tons of cargo on a draft of 27 feet. She was one of the pioneers of the Diesel engine as applied to ship propulsion.

Primarily designed for and employed in the Eastern trade, the "Siam" has been engaged for the last two years in voyages between Europe and the West Coast of South America, and is now discharging a cargo of sugar from Salaverry. A flush deck ship, the absence of a funnel is very noticeable, though the four tall raking masts add very considerably to her handsome appearance.

There are six large hatches, two on the fore deck, one abaft the bridge, and three on the after deck. Each hatch has two derricks, their heels stepped on short Sampson posts, whilst an electric winch is provided for each derrick. The winches also is driven by electricity, whilst a specially powerful winch is placed aft
for warping purposes.

PROPELLING MACHINERY.
In view of the "Siam's" record of service, however, it is the engines themselves that merit most attention.
They consist of a twin screw set of Burmeister and Wain make, a type which now forms the propelling power for over 100 large ships.
Each engine has eight cylinders with a bore of 590 mm., and a stroke of 800 mm., and develops 1,600 I. H. P. at 125 r.p.m. The twin engines give a full speed of 11
knots on a fuel consumption of 104 tons per day, whilst the fuel tanks have a capacity of 1,250 tons, equivalent to a steaming radius of 120 days. The whole of the fuel, with the exception of 20 tons, is carried in the double bottom.

In the engine room there are the usual top and middle platforms for inspection of valves and camshafts respectively, whilst the control stations are placed, as customary, in the centre of each engine, with the telegraph between. At the forward side of the telegraph are the air bottles for the blast injection, two working and two reserve. Reversing is effected by an air turbine operated from the control.

Contrary to present practice, there are only two fuel pumps for each engine, a separate regulator being fitted upon each cylinder in order that the amount of fuel may be adjusted to meet requirements. The governing system is also somewhat different from that now adopted, an Asiatic governor working a lever which, in turn, operates valves controlling the oil supply. Another point of difference lies in the use of oil cooling for the pistons in place of water cooling now generally used,

the latter system, of course, being employed in the jackets.

AUXILIARY MACHINERY.
There is a single stage air compressor at the fore side of each engine.
For general use, however, there are two auxiliary three-stage Atlas compressors working to a pressure of 20 atmospheres. Each compressor is driven by a four cylinder 280 i.h.p.
Burmeister and Wain trunk piston engine, which also provides power for the electric generators. These auxiliary sets are placed on the starboard and port sides respectively one set being capable of supplying power for all purposes whilst the other is held in reserve.

On the starboard side there are the electric bilge and sanitary pumps, a centrifugal oil cleaner, and a single-cylinder Tuxham hot-bulb engine of 20 h.p., direct-coupled to a small generator for supplying electric light to the ship when the larger sets are not in use, as, for instance, when cargo is not being worked.

On the port side, in addition to the compressor and generator, there is an electrically driven ballast pump having a working capacity of 150 tons per hour, whilst a small air com-pressor is fitted capable of providing in 35 minutes sufficient air for starting up the main engines. This set is for use in emergency only should the whole of the air bottles be accidentally discharged.

At the fore side of the engine room
is a water cooling centrifugal pump, capable of handling 20 tons per hour,
for the circulating water, and two lubricating pumps to supply oil to the main engines; also an oil cooler for the main engine system. Aft there is a small Galloway boiler (oil fired) for providing steam for heating the living accommodation.

LITTLE WEAR IN ORIGINAL
CYLINDER LINERS.
Whilst a representative of The Journal of Commerce was on board he was fortunate in seeing a main engine piston and cylinder liner which had been drawn for inspection. The piston was fitted with six rings and an oil ring;
all water in excellent condition. The liner, one of the original set, which had last been drawn four years ago, showed slight salt deposit from the cooling water and was worn about 1.5 mm. at the top and less than

A SOLOMON NEEDED.

MOTHER, SWEETHEART AND DEAD MAN'S GIFT.

A girl's love for her dead sweetheart and a mother's desire to carry out her husband's death-bed wish were responsible for the girl's application at Tottenham to order the mother to return to her two cushion covers.

She said that the covers were worked by her sweetheart when he was in hospital, suffering from wounds received in the war. When he came home he said, "You see,
I have not forgotten you," and handed her the covers. Some time later she let him take them away to show his friends, and he did not return them.

The girl made the pathetic announcement that he died suddenly when visiting her.
The mother, who said death had claimed both her son and husband, contended that the covers were not presents from the boy to the girl.
"It was my husband's last expressed wish, before he died, that I should keep the covers in remembrance of our dear son, and that is why I resist the girl's claim."

The Girl (interposing): But I loved my boy, so.

Mother: Not more than we did.
The Bench, expressing sympathy with both mother and girl, made an order for the covers to be given to the girl, or their value, £3.

The Mother (emphatically): She can have the value. She will never have the cushion covers.

A lady Justice called the mother to the bench and urged her to think of the girl.

Mother: I loved my boy as much as she did.

Lady Justice: Let her have one.
The mother would not yield.

half a millimetre in way of the piston stroke. This furnishes excellent testimony both to the engine builders and those in charge.

In regard to scoring of the exhaust valves, which is always too'd upon as one of the disadvantages of the four-cycle engine, experience has shown that, in the "Siam," it is advisable to change the valves after about 35 days' running, though frequently they are efficient for much longer periods: much depends upon the freedom of the fuel from water. To meet the difficulty the valves have been fitted with cast iron sections in the way of the bars. As these become worn they can be readily removed and replaced by new, thus saving considerable time and labour.

MALAY AND LANDLADY.

SENT TO PRISON FOR ASSAULT.

Mr. Forbes Lancaster, the West London magistrate, sentenced Mahomed Zain Ariffin, a Malayan student, to two months' imprisonment for assaulting Mrs. Emma Threadgold, of Redcliffe-road, South Kensington.

It was stated that the assault took place when Mrs. Threadgold presented her account, the woman receiving a heavy blow on the head, a poker wrapped in a handkerchief being found on the table.

The defence was that Mrs. Threadgold was under the influence of drink, and knocked her head against the sofa.

In the witness-box Ariffin denied the charge.

Mr. H. D. Roome appealed for a fine for his client, who, he said, had been educated at a public school, and had gone through a University, but the magistrate declined to alter his decision.

Notice of appeal was given.

HONGKONG, MONDAY, JAN. 29, 1933.

MORE TROUBLE YET.

The wisdom of the advice in Lowell's Biglow Papers, "Don't never prophesy unless ye know," might still remain apparent with most aspects of life in these uncertain times, but it has now almost lost its point, with politics, especially China's politics. For you can nearly always prophesy right—provided your forecast is gloomy. When the Yunnan and Kwangsi invaders, fighting under Sun Yat-sen's name, descended upon Canton and put General Chan Kwang-ming to flight, it was safe to predict more trouble for the Southern capital because the auguries for future strife could not have been more. Even the slender hope that Sun Yat-sen, master of Canton since more, might effect rapprochement with Peking and thus bring about unity, was discounted by the dark selfish motives of that aspiring president. Moreover, it was doubtful from the very first whether Sun Yat-sen could secure sufficient control in Canton to make him strong enough for Peking to recognize him as a factor in the political game. The invaders had fought under Sun Yat-sen's name but his motives, interested or disinterested, did not concern them. They had come from their own impoverished provinces seeking whom they might devour and what booty they might secure. Chan Kwang-ming was their first victim, and now (seemingly) Sun Yat-sen must also bow to their designs. Evidently Sun divined this, for he, otherwise it would be difficult to understand why he dallied in Shanghai instead of coming South hotfoot to collect the glory the "Sun Yat-sen" forces had won. Doubtless, still safe in the North, he is blessing his own caution, knowing that had he acceded to the urgent requests of his supporters in Canton to place himself at their head, he might perhaps himself have been the victim of General Chum Hui-yung's little trap instead of the unsuspecting Ngai Bong-ping. This dramatic coup having now demoralized his adherents, Sun's hopes of assuming control in Canton have dwindled to vanishing point, while the Kwangsi leader's position has been correspondingly strengthened. Without Canton, Sun has nothing to offer Peking in return for possible friendly overtures. Therefore, for the present, he ceases to count in the political game. Shun Hui-yung, on the other hand, establishes himself as a strong force but it is unlikely that he will seek advances from Peking. Whatever catchword he adopts to cover his designs, his intentions are clear. He aspires to get absolute control of Canton, and once having asserted his supremacy, to hold the city for what it is worth. Doubtless he hopes to maintain law and order and restore trade, for obviously the more prosperous the city, the richer the prize. But he will fail—inevitably. History has shown times without number that usurping governments must keep big military establishments, big military establishments mean unrest among the populace. Even in Canton the goodwill of the population is essential if the government is to remain a cure, for sooner or later popular discontent will encourage some faction to assert itself and turn upon the usurper. For the moment no faction is strong enough to oppose Shun Hui-yung, but assuredly he will yet antagonise the populace and his position will be menaced from within or from without. Then will Canton face more strife and disorder. Meanwhile China will remain disunited and the militarists will scheme among themselves to the country's grave detriment.

LOCAL AND GENERAL.

Dancing enthusiasts are reminded that dancing programmes are arranged every week at the Palace Hotel, Kowloon.

Major A. E. Wearne, M.C., Reuter's Agent at Peking, is passing through the Colony on his way to his home in Australia, on leave.

Among residents who returned from England by the P. & O. liner "Morea" were Lady Chater, Mr. and Mrs. G. F. Nightingale and Miss M. Sloan.

Mr. C. G. Anderson, the Hon. English Secretary of the Anti-Mui Tui Society, was entertained at a farewell dinner on Friday night by the Executive Committee of the Society. He leaves the Colony for Shanghai to-day (Monday) by the P. & O. "Morea" en route, for New York, and expects to be away for about a year.

On board the P. & O. liner "Morea" which arrived on Saturday were Sir Ronald Macleay, K.C.M.G., the new British Minister to China who is on his way to Peking and Sir Ernest Wilton, K.C.M.G., the new Chief Inspector of the Salt and Gabble, who is also going to Peking, via Shanghai. During their stay in port Sir Ronald Macleay has been the guest of H.E. the Governor, Sir Edw. R. Stubbs, and Sir Ernest Wilton has been the guest of Admiral Sir Arthur Leve-ol.

The January Criminal Sessions were resumed before the Puisne Judge (Mr. H. J. Gompertz) in the Supreme Court this morning, when four Chinese—Chau Chu-n, Top Cheu, Ho Tan alias Ho Han-kwan and Li Chuen, were indicted for the forgery of valuable securities—$1 notes of the Kwangsi Bank. Mr. Easley Z. Ilyin (instructed by Messrs G. K. Hall Brutton and Company) appeared for the defence and entered a plea of not guilty on behalf of all four accused. The Crown case against them is still proceeding.

Dr. J. Norman White of the Health Organisation League of Nations, arrived on Saturday by the a.s. "Morea." Dr. White has been present at all the meetings of the League and is staying in Hongkong for about a week to investigate health conditions here. His opinion of the Colony's health formed from the vital statistics is that it compares favourably with other Eastern cities. Later in the week he will make a statement regarding his mission. After leaving Hongkong, Dr. White will visit Shanghai, Manila and India.

Disagreement among the rank and file and assurances from the Government that adequate protection will be accorded their employers in the pursuit of business has led to a partial collapse of the second-hand clothes workers' strike. The masters have given notice that unless the men disassociate themselves from the guild their services will be discontinued. A number have already returned to work and hopes are entertained that the strike will shortly be broken. A district watchman has been assigned to each shop by the S.C.A.

To be stranded on a bank up river for two days, was the uncomfortable experience of the Fat Hing S.S. Company's steamer "Sun-damohi" during her last voyage to Kowloon. News of the mishap was brought by the vessel on her arrival in port yesterday. She left here last Wednesday and at 11.30 p.m. the same evening whilst steaming past Kio, she suddenly went aground. The steam launch "King-ling" took the news of the vessel's plight to Kowloon and the Customs Commissioner sent a gunboat to her assistance. All the 600 passengers were transhipped by junk to Wang Man, and after a stiff struggle lasting nearly 48 hours, the gunboat succeeded in towing the stranded ship off on Friday. The "Sun-damohi" sustained only slight damage and was able to make Hongkong under her own steam.

SATURDAY'S TOURNEY.

MORGAN RETAINS TITLE.

There was a good turnout of boxing enthusiasts at the Theatre Royal on Saturday night when the Hongkong Boxing Association staged its first tournament of the new year. There were six contests on the programme and good boxing was seen in all of them. The star item was, of course, the Morgan-Dixon bout for the welterweight championship of the Colony, and it was as game a fight as one could wish to see. Morgan had to fight all he knew to retain his belt.

At the conclusion of the championship bout, Mr. R. M. Dyer fastened the "Scott-Harston" belt round the "Rattler's" waist. The Band of the King's Regt., was in attendance and played some fine selections during the interval.

The officials were:—Judges:—Lieut. J. G. Jones, 2nd Batta. the King's Regiment, Captain Cross, 2nd Batta. the King's Regiment, Lt. Commander Douglas-Hamilton, R.N., and Lt. Commander Hake.

In charge of scales:—Lieut. Walsh, R.G.A.

Medical Officers:—Dr. Montague Harston, M.D., Dr. O. Forsyth, M.D., and Surgeon Lieut. Commander MacEwan, R.N.

Time-keepers:—Messrs. A. B. Allan and C. Bond.

Mr. J. Brook, manager of the Association, performed the duties of M.C.

THE BOUIS.

SMITH BEATS SNOBBROOK.

This six-round bantamweight contest opened the programme. A. B. Snobbrook, of H.M.S. "Durban" (bantamweight champion of the China Squadron), weighed 123 lbs., while his opponent, Pte. S. Smith of the King's Regt., (winner of the novice competition, 1932) turned the scale at 118 lbs.

It was a lively affair from the first and for two rounds the honours were evenly divided. The bout came to a sudden end in the third round when Snobbrook was disqualified for using wrestling tactics. Smith landed a heavy blow on the jaw which made Snobbrook groggy. The latter held Smith round the waist in a wild attempt to save himself. Smith tried to shake him off, but Snobbrook held on and was dragged around the ring. His arms gradually slid down Smith's legs and then, when his body had touched the floor, Snobbrook seized his opponent's ankles and brought him down also. Smith bumped his head on the floor and was stunned for a couple of seconds.

Referee: Mr. McCann.

LEGGE BEATS BARKER.

This was a six-round welterweight contest. The opponents were Gunner Barker, R.G.A. (winner of novice competition, 1932), who weighed 141 lbs., and A. B. Legge, of H.M.S. "Durban" (145 lbs.). The pair fought like lightweights, fast and furious, right from the start, and the bout lasted only three rounds when Barker's records threw in the towel to save him from a knockout. The exchanges in the first round were very even, the men exchanging light blows in the centre of the ring, and neither did much damage. Legge asserted himself in the second round, and although Barker fought back gamely, he was driven to his own corner where he had to go on his knees to save himself. Soon afterwards he was sent down for a count of two with a left and right to the face and body. Legge landed flush on the jaw when his man got up and Barker went down on an obvious beaten man. He was saved by the gong when three had been counted. Barker came back for the third round still very shaky. Legge immediately sailed into his man and floored him with a heavy body blow. Barker was game however, and was up at once. He was immediately returned to the floor for another count of one, and then two rights to the jaw in quick succession finished him. Even then Barker was game and struggled to get to his feet on the count of five, but his seconds threw in the towel and saved him from the inevitable.

Referee: Mr. Bailey.

RUSSELL BEATS MEEN.

This was also a welterweight contest. A. B. Russell, of H.M.S. "Hawkins" turned the scale at 144 lbs., and his opponent, Leading Seaman Meen of H.M.S. "Titanic" was the pounds lighter. The men were well matched, and both lasted the whole of the scheduled six rounds. Meen was the aggressor in the first round and Russell was floored for one soon after tipping gloves. He stood his ground after this and fought his man blow for blow. Meen did slight injury to the head in the second round, but the second round was very even, both men landing on the jaw but neither hit hard enough to cause any damage. Meen landed hard on the head in the third, and the gong saved Russell. Russell was still weak when he came up for the fourth session, but exchanged blows gamely when forced to do so. For the most part however, he ran away from his opponent. Russell made a wonderful "come back" in the fifth, and although Meen opened up the aggressive, he was quickly pulled up. Russell scored consistently, and wiping off his opponent's lead, actually had Meen groggy at the gong. Both men were all out in the last round, and trowing defence to the winds, they exchanged blows wide open. They were so tired however, that neither could get in a telling blow. Russell won on points by a shade.

Referee: Mr. McCann.

FLYNN BEATS LARTER.

This lightweight contest which was scheduled to go ten rounds had a very unsatisfactory ending in the ninth, when Larter retired after being cautioned by the referee. A. B. Larter, of H.M.S. "Hawkins" (ex lightweight champion of the Atlantic Squadron) scaled 128 lbs., and Pte. Flynn, of the King's Regt., was nine pounds heavier. It was a very fast bout, with Larter aggressive in the first round, dancing about on his toes, and showing excellent footwork. The first two rounds were very even, the men giving punch for punch. Flynn took up the off-side in the third. He employed his usual boring in style and drove his lighter opponent before him all round the ring. He was not allowed to have matters all his own way however, and only led by a shade at the gong.

The next two rounds went to Flynn, who was wallowing like a welterweight, and Larter was saved in the fifth by the gong. Flynn was all out in the next, but Larter kept out of danger. He improved considerably during this session, and forcing the pace near the close just managed to take the round. The seventh was evenly contested, and then Flynn again arrived himself in the eighth and scoring consistently, was well ahead on points. The bout came to a sudden end early in the ninth. Larter took the fight to his opponent, and during an exchange at the ropes he was cautioned by the referee (for some reason which was not apparent to the reporters from their seats at the back of the stage), and immediately retired. Flynn won the bout in the circumstances, although there was little doubt that he would have received the decision if they had fought to an end.

Referee: Mr. Murdoch.

GRiffin BEATS DICK.

A. B. Williams, of H.M.S. "Hawkins," was on the programme to meet Pte. Griffin of the King's Regt., (142 lbs.). In this six-round lightweight contest, but he was indisposed and unable to take the ring at the last moment. Stoker Dick of the same ship, (133 lbs.) deputised for him. Weight told in this bout, but Dick deserves credit for the great fight he put up, although he was forced to retire in the fourth round. Griffin went for his man like a whirlwind in the first round fighting in a peculiar crouching position which was difficult to fathom. He scored cleverly with well directed, hefty blows which told on his opponent. Dick was not so surprised in the second, and fought back gamely. He did not take long to regain his confidence, and then he decided to take up the offensive. He exhibited superior science and sailing in, he landed with left and right hard on the side of the head and jaw, and Griffin slipped to the floor very groggily. He was saved by the gong. Dick continued the offensive in the third and, if anything, was more aggressive in a desperate attempt to finish the bout, but Griffin managed to keep out of danger. It was Dick's round by a big margin, but he had shot his bolt, and was now very worn. It was Griffin's turn in the fourth to do all the wallowing and he floored Dick with a lefty blow to the head. Dick averted a knockout, by giving in.

CHAMPIONSHIP.

MORGAN BEATS DIXON.

S.P.O. "Rattler" Morgan, of H.M.S. "Hawkins" (140 lbs.) retained his title as welterweight champion of the Colony, but he had to go all the way to do it. In his fight with A. B. Dixon, of H.M.S. "Cicula" (133 lbs.) Morgan opened on the aggressive in the first round and scored with a left and right to the face. Soon Dixon asserted himself and taking the fight to the champion managed to even up matters. The "Rattler" managed to get in his favourite rabbit punch once or twice, but received as good as he gave. The second round was a repetition of the first. Morgan led at the opening but Dixon went away after a while and took the round comfortably, missing with a haymaker into the bargain. Had that blow connected there would have been a new welterweight champion. The order was reversed in the third, and Dixon took the aggressive at the opening, and then Morgan took the upper hand and once more employed his rabbit punch to advantage. He landed a glancing blow on Dixon's jaw just at the gong, and it was Dixon's turn to thank a lucky star that the blow did not land flush. Morgan got the measure of Dixon in the fourth, and had the round all to himself, but Dixon guarded himself well and kept out of danger. Dixon shook Morgan with a left to the side in the fifth, but was unable to follow up. Morgan weathered the storm well covered, and was able to even up towards the close. Dixon again scored at the opening of the sixth round, and floured his man for once. Morgan recovered quickly and slammed him hard at the ropes, cutting his left ear for him. Morgan was warned by the referee for using his head when Dixon was corered. Dixon fought a hand cap round the seventh round to the end of the bout. His ear, which was bleeding badly, gave him a lot of trouble, and Morgan played for it all the time. Dixon was badly cornered in the eighth, and covering his damaged ear with his left hand, he fought back with his right, leaving himself wide open. Morgan inflicted a lot of punishment on the head and body and puffed Dixon's left eye. Morgan played for both the ear and eyes in the ninth, but Dixon swapped blows gamely with him. However, Morgan scored at the rate of three to one, and was well ahead on points at the gong. Morgan showed signs of fatigue in the tenth and slowed down somewhat. Dixon went all out and fell into the trap. Morgan drove him to the ropes, and Dixon was forced to take a nasty one on the jaw while covering his ear, but Morgan could not hit hard enough to knock his man out. Dixon came up for the eleventh still with plenty of p.p. in him, but the handicap again told and the round went to Morgan.

Morgan went all out for a knockout in the next, but Dixon was equal to the situation and turning the table on his opponent, even succeeded in taking the round. Dixon continued on the aggressive in the thirteenth and drove Morgan all over the ring. Morgan again played for the damaged ear and eye in the fourteenth, but Dixon continued to press and had the "Rattler" guessing more than once. This round closed with the honours, evenly divided. The last round was a game and lively affair. Dixon forgot to nurse his damaged eye and ear, and dashed into Morgan slugging with both hands. The "Rattler" stood his ground and they fought toe to toe. A hefty punch on the damaged ear floored Dixon down, and then Morgan asserted himself and landed the round with his man at the ropes, but still punching back gamely to the last.

FUNERAL.

MASTER "TEDDY" ARNOLD.

The funeral of Edward Thomas ("Teddy"), the 9-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. G. H. Arnold, No. 4, Rose Terrace, Kowloon, who died at the Government Civil Hospital early on Saturday morning from the effects of severe injuries received through being mangled by a circus elephant, took place at Happy Valley, the same afternoon. The body was carried on a bier from the hospital to the Protestant Cemetery by four Chief Petty Officers of the Naval Dockyard where the deceased's father is employed. The Rev. G. R. Lindsay, Vicar of St. Andrew's Church, Kowloon, conducted the burial service at the graveside, assisted by the Rev. Chorley Howard, the Naval Chaplain. The coffin was afterwards lowered into the grave by Naval friends, who completed the task by filling in the grave and tenderly laying the many floral tributes on it. Many of little "Teddy's" school-mates followed his remains to their last resting place. Among those noticed at the graveside were the bereaved parents, Mrs. Grace (wife of the Commodore), Pay-Lieut. OBITUARY.

MRS. R. S. IVY.

The death of Mrs. Robert S. Ivy, is announced in Shanghai papers of the 22nd inst. Exactly a year ago to the day Mrs. Ivy underwent a very severe operation since when, though occasionally able to get up, she had been practically bedridden. Mrs. Ivy was born in Southport, Lancashire, and was married to Dr. Ivy, the head of the well known firm of dental surgeons, in 1880. She was deservedly popular in Shanghai, a woman who took the greatest interest in all its life, a charming hostess and one who in charitable work did a great deal of good and many kind deeds. Mrs. Ivy was an enthusiastic and most successful gardener. She was also a keen and very clever photographer. Dr. Ivy and she had three children, the eldest son now in Philadelphia, Mr. Bertie Ivy, who is at present stationed in Yokohama and Mrs. E. E. Parsons. To them as to Dr. Ivy the sincere sympathies of many friends go out.

SAIYINGPUN SCHOOL.

DISTRIBUTION OF PRIZES.

The annual prize distribution of Saiyungpun School took place in the school building at West Point this afternoon, in the presence of a large gathering of parents and friends of the students. Mrs. Irving, wife of the Hon. Mr. E. A. Irving, (Director of Education) graciously gave away the prizes to the successful students.

HEADMASTER'S REPORT.

The Headmaster's report stated:— "The maximum enrolment during 1922 was 359 (308 in 1921). The average attendance 333 (319 in 1921). Fees amounted to $11,061. The school has remained full throughout the year, and a large number of prospective pupils were unable to secure admission. We look forward expectantly to the completion of our new school which will accommodate greater numbers. The attendance has been good, and for a few months the percentage was as high as 90. Several classes maintained an unbroken record for a period of five consecutive weeks, while 12 boys—one fifth of the whole school—made perfect attendance. The general standard of efficiency has been maintained: map drawing, handwriting, English conversation and composition are particularly good. All the pupils in Class 4 successfully passed the qualifying entrance examination to Queen's College. The discipline and tone continue excellent. Substantial additions have been made to the apparatus and equipment. The University education undergraduates use the school for teaching purposes. Although handicapped for sport, we have done well in ground, Volley ball and football are the principal games; during the summer launch parties and swimming were much enjoyed.

BOY SCOUT TROOP.

Our Scouts attended at Government House during the visit of H. R. H. The Prince of Wales, when Patrol Leader Lo Kwok Chung was decorated by H. R. H. with the gilt cross for gallantry in saving a boy from drowning at the Kowloon Town bathing beach. During August the Troop spent nine days in camp at Castle Peak; the expenses were generously defrayed by Sir R. Bert Ho Tung, The Hon. Mr. Chow Shou-sun, Messrs. Lo Cheung-shui, Choy Wai-man, Leung Ki bo, and Dr. Wan Man kai. It is hoped that the Troop will increase in numbers, and that the Scouts will do all they can to repay in some measure, by loyal service to the school and the Empire, the care and attention lavished on them.

FOR CHARITY.

Our energies have not been confined to studies and sport alone. In the cause of Charity the school has done splendidly. From class collections and self-denial the scholars contributed $300 to the Swatow Relief Fund. Our Scouts assisted the "Charitable Associations" in street collections and were instrumental in raising $11,000 for the same purpose. Again, when we were unfortunate to lose our "head boy" the school came forward, defrayed the whole of the funeral expenses and handed a substantial sum to the bereaved and aged mother.

UNIVERSITY EXAMINATIONS.

The names of thirteen old scholars figure in the recent University Examination lists: Matriculation—three. Senior Local—one. Junior Local—nine. One, Lo Tung Fan, who won the Alan Morris Memorial scholarship to Queen's College where he obtained further honours, has distinguished himself by gaining the President of China Scholarship. We trust that his University career will be equally brilliant. To another "Old Boy" Mr. Leung Ki Ho we owe a debt of gratitude. During the year Mr. Leung presented the school with a mimeograph which we find very useful. This however, is but one of Mr. Leung's benefactions to his old school. In future years we hope that a larger number of "Old Boys" will come forward and assist the school.

SPECIAL PRIZE DONORS.

Our thanks are due also to the following gentlemen, donors of Special Prizes:—Mr. Leung Ki Ho, Mr. Tsang In Ting, Hon. Mr. Chow Shou Son, Mr. Mok Kon Sang, Captain Hall, Mr. Kwok Siu Lau, Sir Robert Ho Tung, Mr. Ip Sau Chi, Mr. Wong Kam Fook, Mr. Pang Sau Chun, Mr. Ng Sau Fan, Mr. Choo Po Siang, Mr. Chow Tung Sang, Mr. Chan Young Hon, Mr. P. MEAT SHOP BLAZE.

$4,000 DAMAGE DONE.

On Saturday evening, a fire occurred at 35 Queen's Road West. The building is of three storeys, the ground floor being used as a dried meat shop, the first floor by the tokis of the shop and the top floor as a tenement. On the roof, which is used for drying meat, is a cockloft. The fire originated in the roof and was extinguished after half an hour.

How the blaze started is unknown but damage to the extent of $4,000 is reported, the whole building having been affected by water from the hoses at the fire itself. Insurance had been taken out in the sum of $5,000.

ALL'GED BOMB OUTRAGE.

CYLINDERS ON TRAM LINE.

At about a quarter past four yesterday, passengers in train-car No. 27, which was just passing Lyeamun Terrace on the way to Shaukiwan, heard a loud explosion as though a bomb had gone off.

The motorman pulled up the car to investigate and discovered two cylinders a few feet apart on one rail and another cylinder on the other rail.

Enquiries this morning elicited the fact that the cylinders had black metal cases with some kind of explosive inside. The shape resembled the detonator of a Mill's Bomb.

Until the Analyst has furnished a report it is difficult to gauge the origin of the so-called bombs, but if they are bombs, they are of a very inferior type and crudely made.

No damage was caused to the tram which was in commission immediately after the accident.

A Chinese male, aged 29 years, was removed from the Tung Wah Hospital to the Government Civil Hospital as the result of attempting to commit suicide by jumping into the harbour yesterday afternoon.

SATURDAY'S CRICKET.

BATSMEN'S SUCCESS.

Enjoying first knock, and playing on their own ground, the Club overcame a weakened R.G.A. team on Saturday and improved their position in the League Table. Owen Hughes, going in after the fall of the first wicket, made the first century in the senior league, his 128 including 25 fours. In all, the Club compiled 231 runs off 30 overs and declared for 3 wickets. After a steady opening the Gimmens' could only muster 110, one man being absent. Piercy caused the havoc, getting 7 wickets for 30. Playing on their own ground, C.R.C. found runs difficult to get, being all out for 70. Pay-Lieut. Wallace getting 6 wickets for 26 runs. After some steady play, the Navy passed this total and went on to score 175 several of the later batsmen and "Mr. Extras" getting double figures. Capt. Wood hit the only six of the match. The C.R.C. bowlers showed more consistent form than hitherto.

Civil Service 2nd XI. are almost booked for the wooden spoon in the second league. In their first match with Kowloon Juniors they played them to a tie. On Saturday on their own ground they lost by 4 wickets and 81 runs. After a promising opening their batsmen again failed, the innings being furnished for 87. Weaver getting 5 wickets for 16 and Raiton 5 for 31. The bowling being ineffective, Kowloon knocked up 168 for 6 wickets. Wheeler being top scorer with 58 and Edwards was again consistent, making 31 not out.

In contrast to their second team's display Civil Service visited Kowloon and gained a convincing victory in a "friendly". Benson was the only Kowloon batsman who could play the visitors' effective bowling, being getting the best figures with 5 for 23. Although Evans bowled really well for Kowloon, he had little support and Civil Service knocked up 151, Wood giving a convincing display, hitting one six and eight fours in his 58.

In another "friendly" Laurence made a century for Craigengower against the Club second string. The leather-hunting took a lot out of the visitors—Craigengower made 220—who could only reply with 123. Lt. D'Arcy Evans taking the most wickets, 4 for 17.

A close game resulted in the Police v. Queen's College "friendly" game, the latter getting home by 14 runs. Watts 31, and Reynolds 33 were the principal contributors to the home team's score of 132. The school team consisted mostly of I.R.C. players. J. S. Curreen made 53 and A. H. Madar 45, out of 146—Minnu with 3 wickets for 24 and Kelly with 3 for 14 were the most successful bowlers in the two teams.

Appended are the detailed scores, home teams names mentioned first. The Indians' 2nd XI. visited Pokfulam and beat the University 2nd XI. by 3 wickets and 10 runs. The University chose to bat first and piled up 96 runs, C. W. Lam being their top-scorer with 43 runs which included 7 fours.

The Indians taking second knock started badly—their two opening wickets fell for ducks in the first over but the other batsmen made good. E. Moosdeen carried his bat for 35 runs.

Both sides fielded well. This win placed the Indians more securely in the premier position in the League table, as they have five wins and one draw.

CIVIL SERVICE.

A séance was given recently in Chicago by Elizabeth Allen Tomson and her husband Dr. Clarence Tomson, late of London. A chance was given to news photographer to snap any spook that materialized—and here is the result. It speaks for itself.

The College of St. Boniface, at Winnipeg, was recently destroyed by fire. This was the second Roman Catholic institution in Canada burned in ten days.

Mr. Theodorus C. White, with his wife and son, have returned to China on a business tour. Mrs. White was a royal Princess—Princess Dowager Ling—and acted as First Lady in waiting to the late Dowager Empress of China. Mr. White is a prominent banker in Peking.

While the ship on which she was returning to America was hundreds of miles from New York Miss Vella Fava received a wireless proposal from her waiting sweet heart—and she accepted the same way.

Frau Adele Schreier is leader of the Women Workers' Political Party of Germany, one of the most powerful organizations in the new Republic.

John Ross, aged 73, won a 50-yard race among the convicts of the San Quentin Prison in seven seconds flat. Shortly after he ran away from the prison guards while working in a road gang. Motor cycles were necessary to catch him.

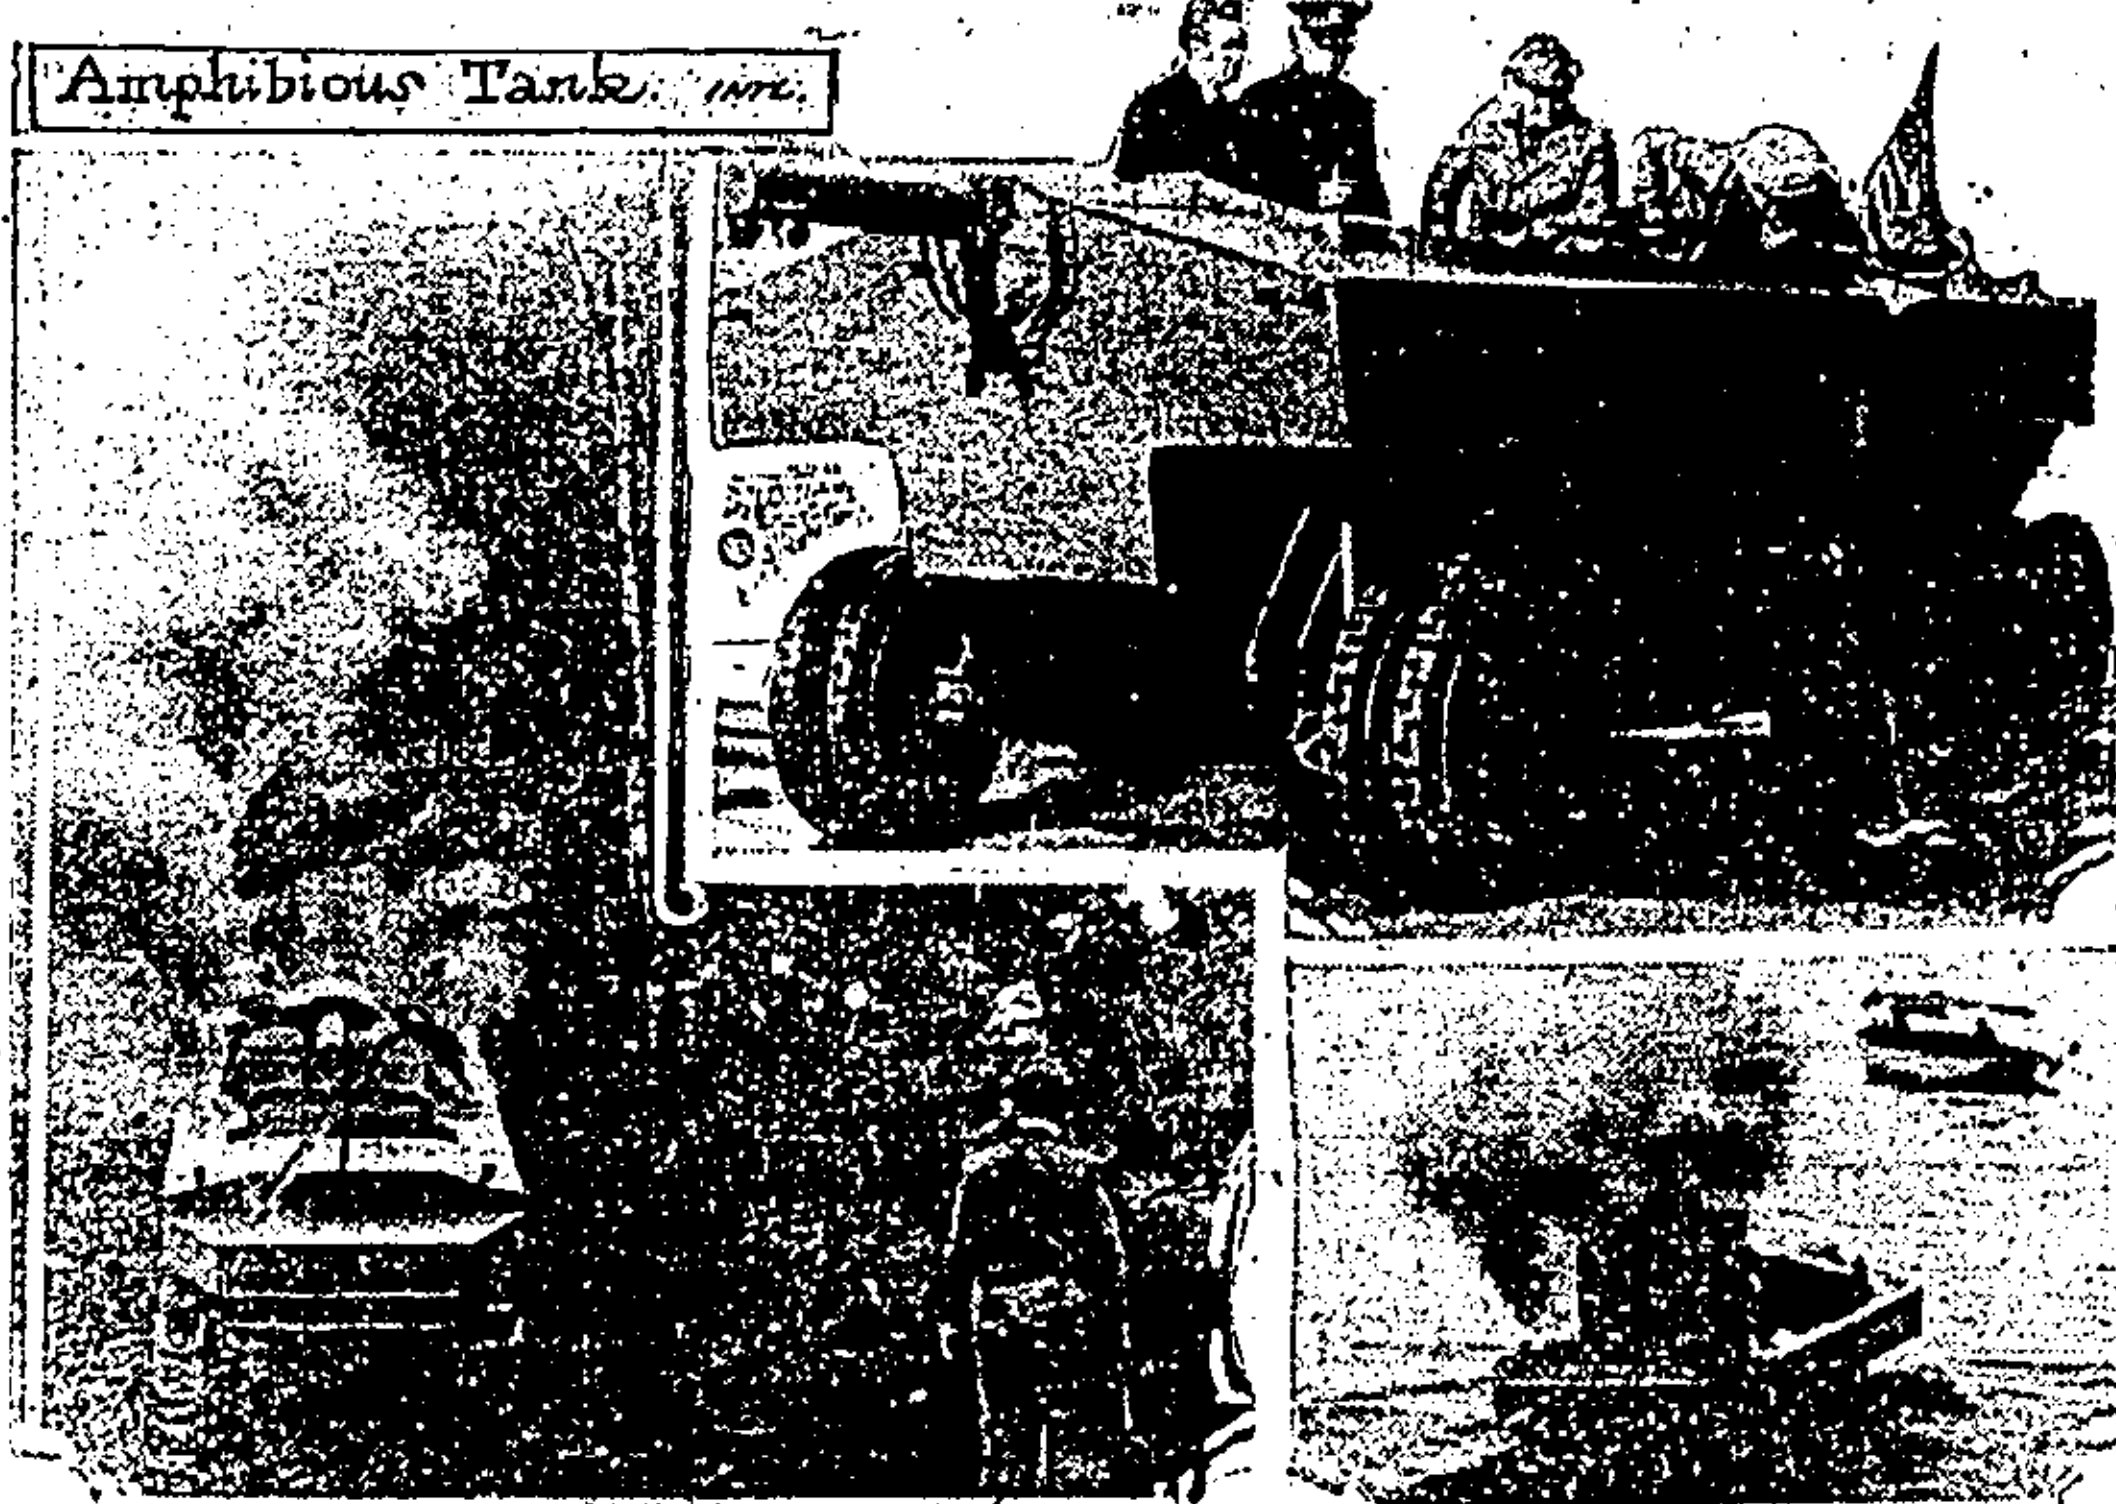

Christy Mathewson, once idol of baseball fans, knows that it is to suffer from tuberculosis, for he is recuperating after fighting for four years.

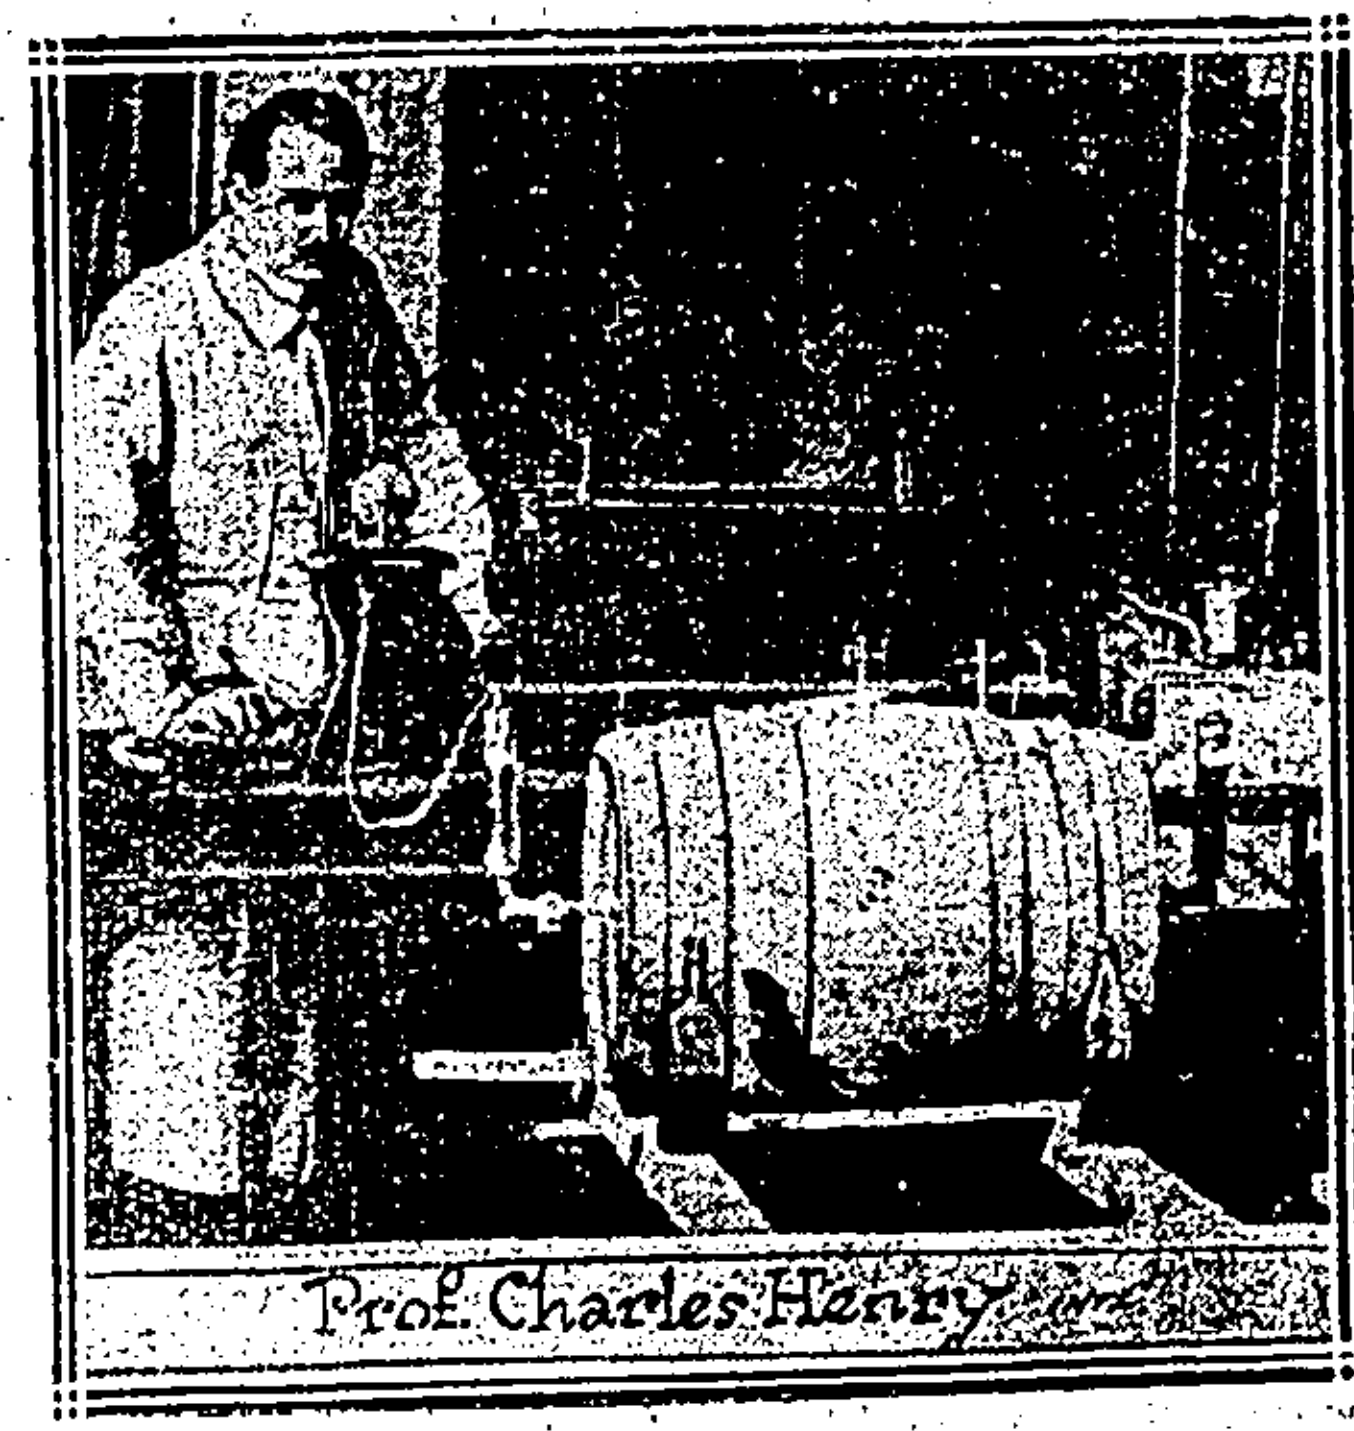

Mrs. Ingelborg Bjarnason has the honour of being the first woman elected to the upper house of Iceland's Althing, or Congress.

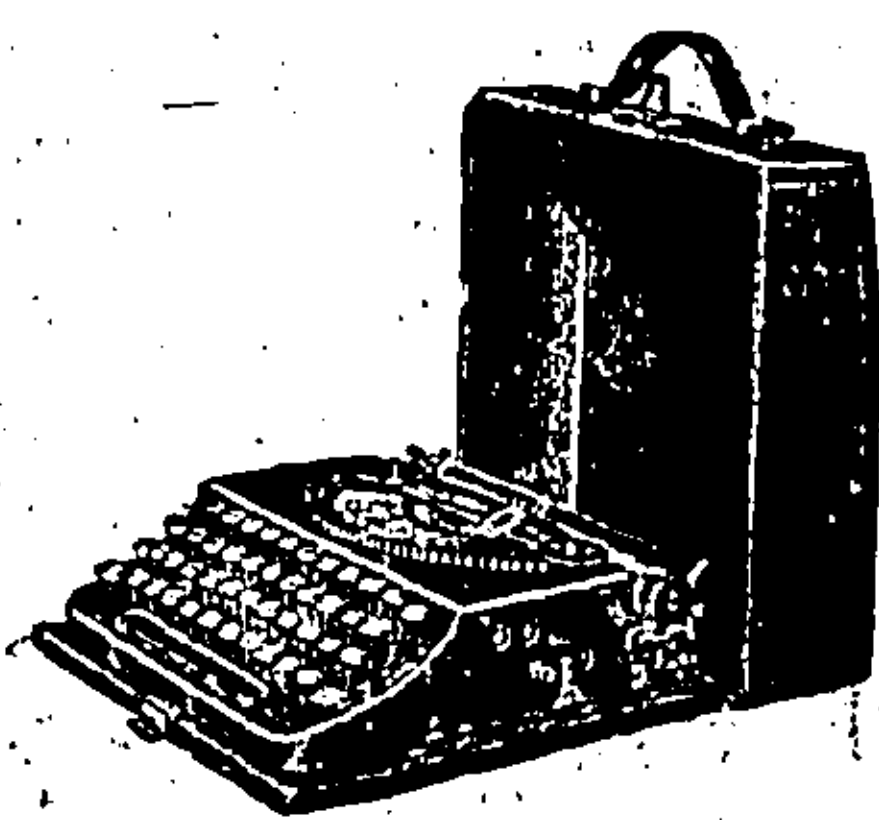

Fears are felt for the lives of King George and Queen Elizabeth of Greece, following the recent Greek revolt. George was the second son of the deposed Constantine and is shown, with his Queen, returning from the recent coronation of her parents, the King and Queen of Rumania.

High army officials witnessed the trial of this swimming "tank" invented by Walter Christie, famous motor car racer. The tank, which carries a six pounder and three machine guns, climbs hills at an angle of 45 degrees, and when it comes to a stream plunges in and goes across like a boat. It crossed the Hudson River, near New York a 20 miles an hour and climbed hills at 30 miles an hour. On paved roads it runs on wheels; on hills it uses caterpillar tractors. In the water it is moved by propellers.

Professor Charles Henry, of Sorbonne University France, is shown with the apparatus he has perfected by which he extracts liquors in a few minutes. He uses Rumford's apparatus by attaching wires to the facets at both ends of the leg. Then he steaks 120,000 volts through the leg. This removes all impurities and gives it flavour of 40 year old liquor.
